INTRODUCTION: INITIAL THOUGHTS

HEALTH

As a Global Public
Good

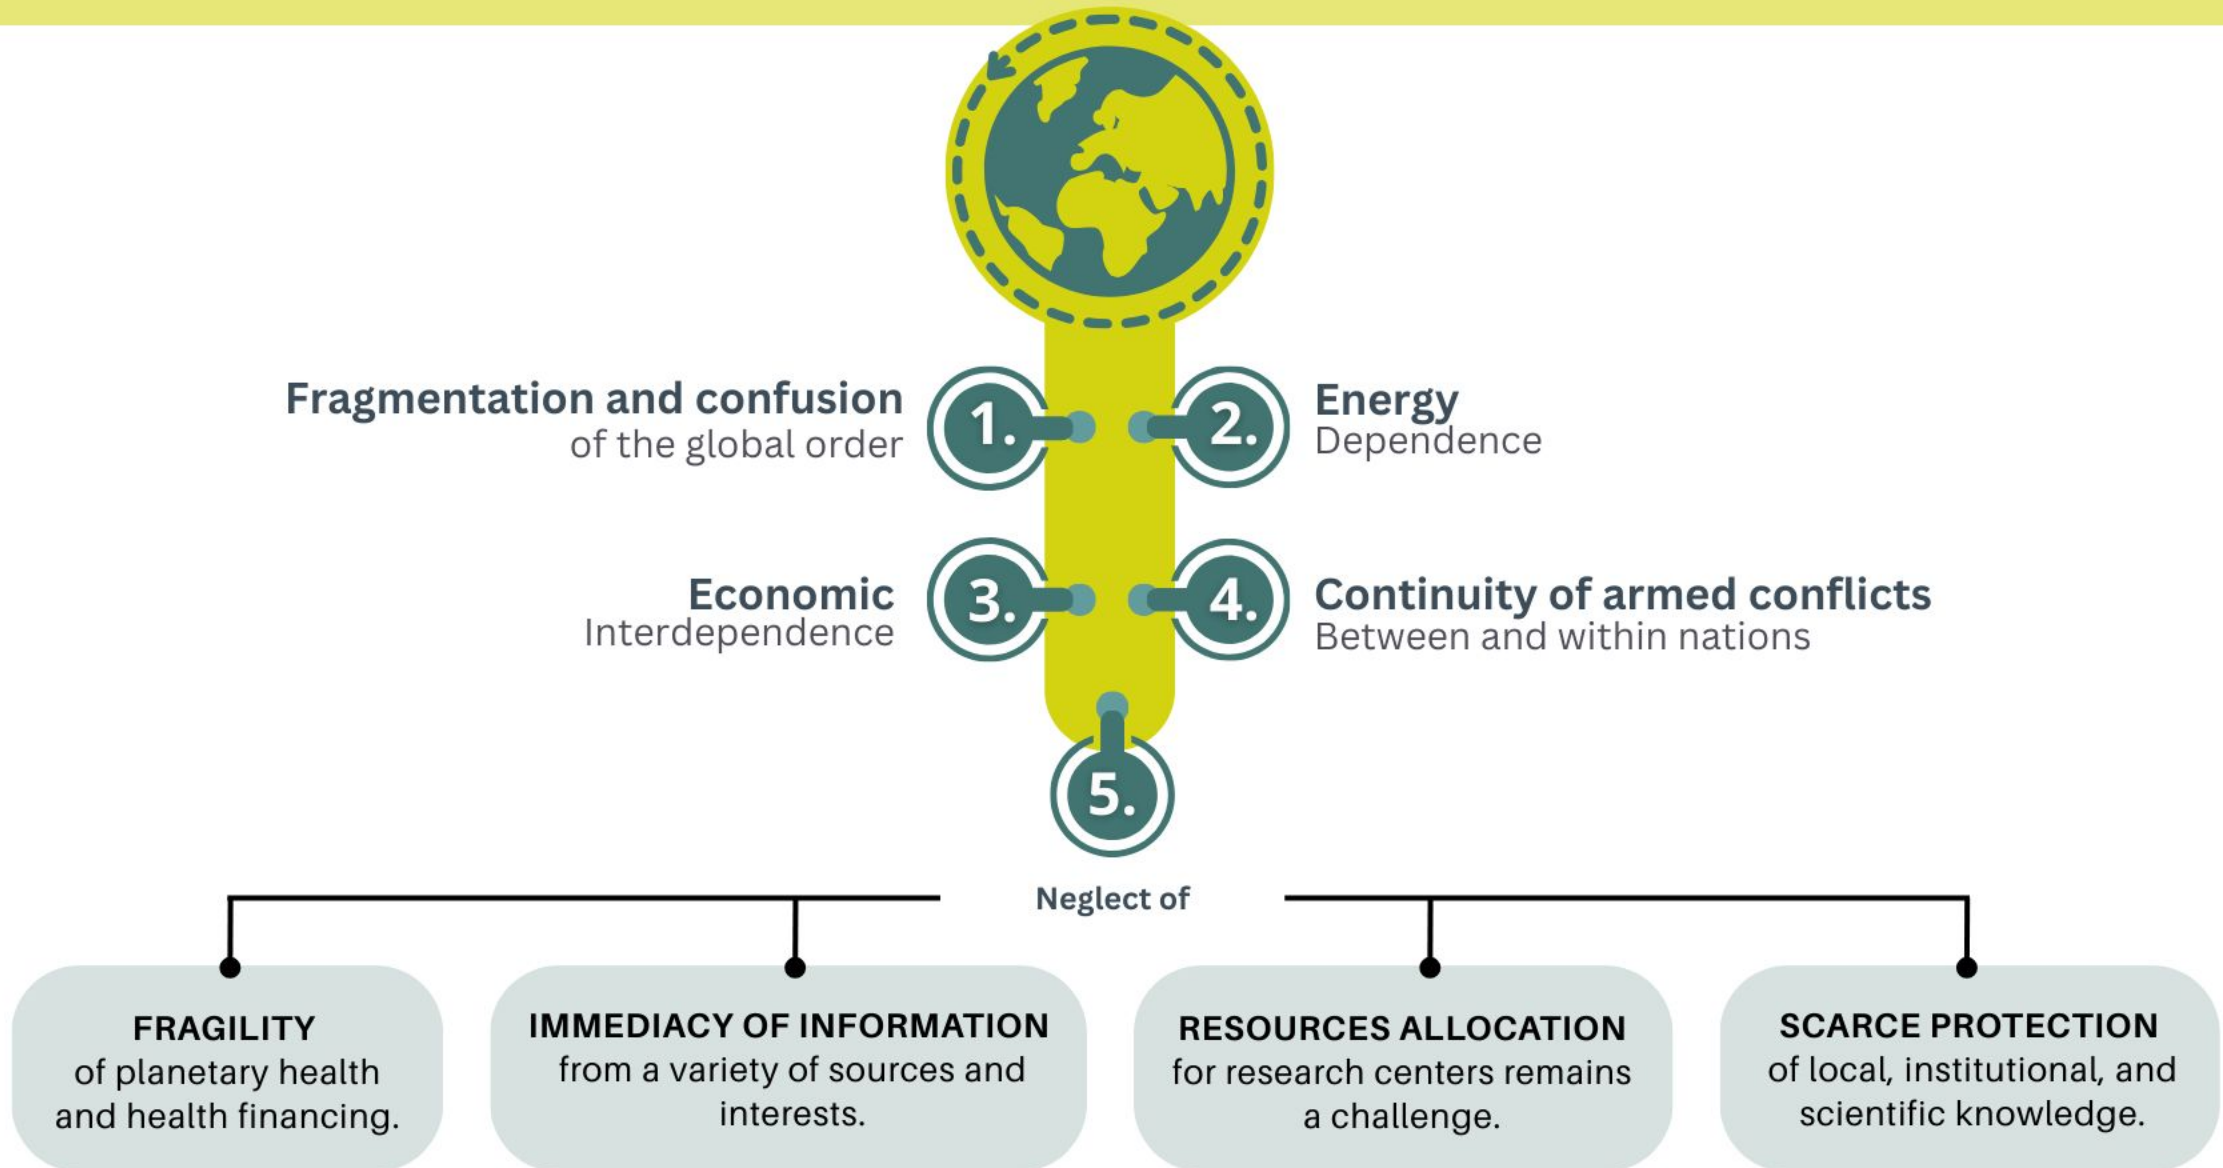

INCLUSIVE AND RESILIENT

Financing
Frameworks

The commitment and aspiration of health for all remains a goal to be achieved in one of the regions with the most significant inequalities between income and well-being.

CHANGES IN THE GLOBAL CONTEXT

CURRENT TRADE POLICIES

PROTECTIONIST TRADE POLICIES OF THE UNITED STATES

While seeking to benefit domestic industry, it affects U.S. consumers, workers, and migrants.

DEPORTATIONS IN A FRAMEWORK OF DISRESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND DIGNITY

This has shown little alignment with the minimum global ethical and moral standards.

BEYOND THE REACTIONS OF ACTORS FROM THE GLOBAL NORTH

Actions of several nations in our region
have already begun

Brazil is staging its energy capacities, Mexico and Canada with their strategic location, and Chile with its mineral resources.

BEYOND THE REACTIONS OF ACTORS FROM THE GLOBAL NORTH

"In Latin America, there is growing concern about the advance of anti-vaccine movements and a weakening of health cooperation, despite outbreaks of measles and yellow fever".

(Tobar, S., De Brito Franco, S., Minayo, M. 2025)

FINAL REFLECTIONS

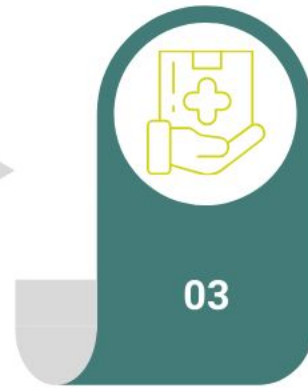

Values and leadership

Spaces and platforms for participation in local decision-making and accountability at regional and global levels in health

Incorporating local and regional knowledge and capacities

from a systemic perspective

Health service delivery

based on interprofessional and intersectoral teams centered on individuals, families and communities.

Health training privileges community spaces, determinants and social determination.

Reducing

knowledge and technological gaps
